

REHABILITATION PROGRAM «POST – COVID»

The modern and comprehensive approach to the general recovery of the body after virus COVID-19. General fatigue, structural changes in lungs tissue, nervous system damages, quick exhaustion - this is a short list of all complications after COVID-19. If the own body potential is not enough for the quick recovery and regeneration, stem cells therapy can help the body to restore the immune system and regenerate the affected lung tissue, improve the functioning of internal organs and systems, restoring beauty, strength and energy.
